

Emily Martin leads the Policy and Engagement Branch in the Consumer Data Right Division of the Australian Treasury. Emily previously represented the Australian Commonwealth Government on Consumer Affairs issues and has over 20 years' experience working in public policy. From 2018-2021, Emily was the senior Treasury representative in Europe and the United Kingdom, serving as Minister-Counsellor (Economic) at the Australian High Commission in London. Prior to joining the Treasury in 2015, Emily worked at the Department of the Prime Minister and Cabinet and other government agencies on a number of social policy reforms.